

WHAT WE DO

Architectural Division

Residential Home Design

Each of our plans is a unique interpretation of the American home and includes an open floor plan, custom-styled features, and an abundance of amenities in a broad range of square footages. Incorporating the diversity of styles that shape the United States, our portfolio house plans have also gained massive appeal to families across the globe. Happy clients nationwide prove that we deliver on our promise - to provide quality designs that fit the lives and budgets of today's homeowners. Using extensive research, our full-service firm implements our knowledge and experience to specialize and strengthen every aspect of our designs. Our goal is to have clients who are completely satisfied, whether they build a cottage or castle.

Known as one of the nation's leading residential architects, Donald A. Gardner, AIA, and our firm have been featured in Southern Living, Better Homes and Gardens, Home, House Beautiful, Builder, Garlinghouse, and Home Planners. In 2004, we were honored with the first annual Dell/NFIB Small Business Excellence in Customer Service Award and the Dell/NFIB Information Technology Recognition award.

Design Modification Services

Donald A. Gardner Design Services, LLC, now offers design modification services for most of our portfolio home plans. Whether you want to change the foundation or increase the overall square footage, we can help! Who better to modify your almost perfect Donald A. Gardner house plan than the architects and designers at Donald A. Gardner Design Services.

Marketing Division

The in-house Marketing Division handles the wide-ranging marketing projects of all Donald A. Gardner divisions and publishes its own plan magazine, Designssm, three times each year. This full-color magazine features the firm's newest and best selling designs as well as photography of completed homes.

The Marketing Division is instrumental in assisting builders with the marketing of their Gardner-designed homes. We offer builder-specific marketing products and programs designed to save time and money, and help sell homes faster.

In addition to creating professional marketing products for builders, the Marketing Division also manages builder benefits programs such as the Photography Program, advertising and public relations and plan selection assistance.

Publishing Division

Donald A. Gardner Publishing, LLC was formed in 2004 to publish and promote the portfolio of Donald A. Gardner Architects, Inc., one of the nation's leading residential architectural firms. Focusing on high-quality, full-color plan books and magazines, the goal of Donald A. Gardner Publishing, LLC is to become the most highly respected provider of house plan publications, offering informative, educational content to aid consumers and builders in their house plan selection and building processes. Donald A. Gardner Publishing, LLC produces the quarterly consumer newsstand magazine At Home with Donald A. GardnerTM. For further information, visit our web site www.athomewithdon.com.

"Welcome home." – Donald A. Gardner